About Trussville City Schools

The mission of Trussville City Schools (TCS) is to educate all students using high standards in a safe, nurturing environment. Educators, staff, parents and the community work together to place students on a positive path toward college and career readiness.

The TCS school system ranks number 3 academically in the state of Alabama with a score of 95 on the State Report Card and was named a 2019 National District of Distinction by District Administrator Magazine.

With a priority of fostering academic and career competencies, TCS offers 7 academies: Culinary, Engineering, Biomedical, Business & Finance, Electrical, Computer Science and CRAFT. The system offers students numerous AP courses at its high school. Students have access to academic coaches in math, reading and technology at all grade levels.

TCS has a graduation rate of 97.9%, and college feedback reports from state universities show outstanding performance from its graduates relative to all incoming freshman.

Aside from academic opportunities, TCS students can participate in a variety of fine arts and sports programs, including the system's state 7A championship-level football program, track, baseball, softball and girls basketball teams.

The school system works closely with the City of Trussville to maintain a safe and functional environment for its students. There are five storm shelters and a dedicated storm team available in the event of a weather emergency. TCS also has eight school resource officers across its five schools.

At TCS, we believe in the power of working together to prepare students for a better tomorrow. Trussville parents and community members continuously support the system's schools through the Parent Advisory Council, diversity committees, and participation in enrichment activities.

Since its establishment, TCS has achieved an exemplary status among school systems at both the state and national levels and continues to strive to prepare students to be productive citizens.

Our Community

Trussville, located north of the Birmingham airport at the I-459/59 interchange and along the banks of the Cahaba River, is one of metro Birmingham's most rapidly growing suburbs. The city adopted its motto, "Gateway to happy living," long ago; yet it still rings true among longtime residents and newcomers alike.

While Trussville began as a rural, isolated community with farming as its largest corporation, local residents envisioned a flourishing city. Today, developments in residential and retail construction, along with a downtown redevelopment plan continue to attract families to the area.

The Trussville Entertainment District is a 12-acre site equipped for outdoor fun that anyone can enjoy, including multiple restaurants, a stage and pavilion seating. For sports lovers, there is a 128-acre athletic complex that hosts tournaments for various sports including softball, soccer, baseball and football.

Trussville prides itself in being a community where residents know their neighbors and work together toward the betterment of their town. It is a wonderful place to raise a family, and it truly is a place where students can "learn today and lead tomorrow."
